

Solvay implements price adjustment for its polymer additives products

Saddle Brook, NJ - April 20, 2018 – Solvay’s global business unit Technology Solutions announced today the implementation of a worldwide price adjustment of 8 to 12 percent across its polymer additives product portfolio. The adjustment is effective immediately and reflects rising raw material and transportation costs. The change will help Solvay ensure long-term reliability of supply and reinvest in its assets to support the sustainable growth of its customers.
